Rain

As all of us know, this summer has been unusually hot and dry. Rain has been scarce. The land has been dry. Although some people have tried watering their crops and plants, nothing can take the place of a God-given rain. It is typically in the absence of it that we recognize how precious it is to life. So what are we to learn from rain.

Perhaps above all else, we are to learn that God is in control. From the first mention of rain in the Bible in Gen. 2:5, we learn that God is the one who gives rain. Although scientists and meteorologists have come to understand the physical conditions that cause rain, God is the true giver of rain. Various times in the Bible, God withholds rain as a punishment for evil. God, through Amos, gives one such account: "I also withheld the rain from you when there were yet three months to the harvest; I would send rain on one city and send no rain on another city; one field would have rain, and the field on which it did not rain would wither..." (Amos 4:7). When we go through droughts and floods alike, we are always to remember that God is in control!

Also, rain reminds us of the universality of humanity. Christ said of the Father, "For He makes His sun rise on the evil and on the good, and sends rain on the just and on the unjust" (Mt. 5:45). All men need and receive man. The same rain that we receive today was also received hundreds of years ago. We all are from the same Father and need the same rain.

Let us thank God for the rain He has given us.
